

Unnamed SUCP Radio Station To Be A Reality

Last semesters much talked about proposal for an independent Potsdam State radio station will soon become a reality when the new station starts broadcasting early in January.

The station, as yet unnamed and still without a designated carrier frequency, will resemble the ICRN's WNTC in musical entertainment.

The manager of the new radio station, Alan Goldstein, known to many on both campuses as "Soupy Sommers," said that no affiliation between the State station and the Inter College Radio Network was foreseeable in the near future.

Goldstein stated that he personally would like to see a radio network set-up between Clarkson, The State University, and St. Lawrence. Another possibility would be affiliating the station with other State University College Stations.

The future of the ICRN on the State campus will be decided by their Student Government Association at the end of this semester.

If SGA decides to keep State ICRN, several members of the ICRN staff proposed that Clarkson handle the maintenance of transmitters on both campuses for all college radio stations.

If the decision is against affiliation with the ICRN, which seems likely, it would be up to Clarkson to maintain the present WNTC service to State.
